

REVEALING AN INCREASINGLY DIVIDED WORLD

Wednesday, October 7, 2015
6 - 8 PM (PT)

Place: Portland State University; College of Urban and Public Affairs;
Parsons Gallery (2nd Floor);
506 SW Mill Street,
Portland, Oregon 97201

The event will also be streamed live at:
www.warpreventioninitiative.org
www.rotarianactiongroupforpeace.org

Is the world becoming more peaceful or are we deteriorating into violence and conflict? What are the global and regional trends in peace? What are the main factors that build peace and how can we prevent violence in the future?

The Global Peace Index explores these questions, analyzing recent trends in militarization, safety and security, and ongoing conflict. The Global Peace Index is the first analysis to rank countries on their peacefulness and to identify potential determinants of peace. Comprised of 23 indicators measuring the absence of violence or fear of violence in society, the Index takes into consideration both internal and external factors, and measures 99% of the world's population.

Join us for a presentation on the annual report published by IEP. Local global affairs and conflict transformation experts will join IEP's Executive Director Aubrey Fox in discussing the latest findings.

Hosted by:

